About the survey

Government budget decisions – what taxes to levy, what services to provide, and how much debt to take on – have important consequences for all people in society. When governments provide information and meaningful channels for the public to engage in these decisions, we can better ensure public money is spent on public interests.

The Open Budget Survey (OBS) is the world's only independent, comparative and fact-based research instrument that uses internationally accepted criteria to assess public access to central government budget information; formal opportunities for the public to participate in the national budget process; and the role of budget oversight institutions, such as legislatures and national audit offices, in the budget process.

The survey helps local civil society assess and confer with their government on the reporting and use of public funds. This 8th edition of the OBS covers 120 countries.

Visit www.internationalbudget.org/open-budget-survey for more information, including the full OBS methodology, the 2021 Global and Regional Reports, findings for all surveyed countries, and the Data Explorer.

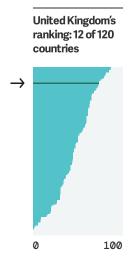

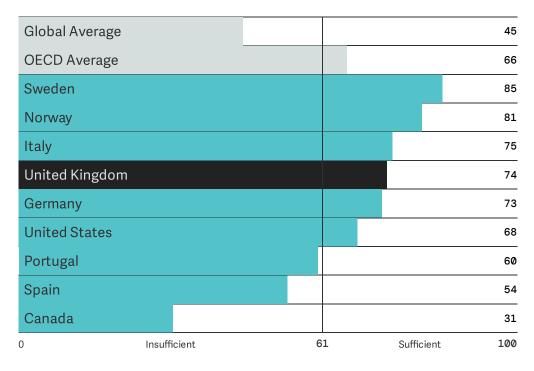

Transparency

This part of the OBS measures public access to information on how the central government raises and spends public resources. It assesses the online availability, timeliness, and comprehensiveness of eight key budget documents using 109 equally weighted indicators and scores each country on a scale of 0 to 100. A transparency score of 61 or above indicates a country is likely publishing enough material to support informed public debate on the budget.

United Kingdom has a transparency score of 74 (out of 100).

What changed in OBS 2021?

United Kingdom has increased the availability of budget information by:

 Publishing the Pre-Budget Statement online. (Due to the changes in the budget calendar in 2020, the UK published a Spending Review that provides updates estimates and forecasts for 2021 revenues and expenditures, which counts in the OBS methodology as a Pre-Budget Statement and has increased the transparency score).

Recommendations

United Kingdom should prioritize the following actions to improve budget transparency:

- Produce and publish the Citizens Budget online in a timely manner.
- · Improve the comprehensiveness of the Enacted Budget.
- Make budget publications in accessible, simplified format and disseminated in different languages, with the participation of existing civil society groups.

Public Participation

The OBS assesses the formal opportunities offered to the public for meaningful participation in the different stages of the budget process. It examines the practices of the central government's executive, the legislature, and the supreme audit institution (SAI) using 18 equally weighted indicators, aligned with the Global Initiative for Fiscal Transparency's Principles of Public Participation in Fiscal Policies, and scores each country on a scale from 0 to 100.

United Kingdom has a public participation score of 54 (out of 100).

Extent of opportunities for public participation in the budget process

Recommendations

United Kingdom's Treasury has established pre-budget submissions during budget formulation and e-consultations during budget implementation but, to further strengthen public participation in the budget process, should also prioritize the following actions:

- Improve access to information on the budget process that would enable the participatory process. This includes ensuring that information is not only published, but also accessible in terms of language and format in order to be meaningful for citizens and civil society organizations.
- Expand mechanisms during budget implementation to engage any civil society organization or member of the public who wishes to participate.
- Actively engage with vulnerable and underrepresented communities, directly or through civil society organizations representing them.

United Kingdom's Parliament has established public hearings related to the approval of the annual budget and public hearings related to the review of the Audit Report, but should also prioritize the following actions:

 Allow any member of the public or any civil society organization to testify during its hearings on the budget proposal prior to its approval.

United Kingdom's National Audit Office has established mechanisms for the public to assist in developing its audit program. It should prioritize the following actions to improve public participation in the budget process:

 Establish formal mechanisms for the public to contribute to relevant audit investigations.

Budget Oversight

The OBS examines the role that legislatures and supreme audit institutions (SAIs) play in the budget process and the extent to which they provide oversight; each country is scored on a scale from 0 to 100 based on 18 equally weighted indicators. In addition, the survey collects supplementary information on independent fiscal institutions (see Box).

The legislature and supreme audit institution in United Kingdom, together, provide adequate oversight during the budget process, with a composite oversight score of 67 (out of 100). Taken individually, the extent of each institution's oversight is shown below:

Recommendations

United Kingdom's Parliament provides weak oversight during the planning stage of the budget cycle and adequate oversight during the implementation stage. To improve oversight, the following actions should be prioritized:

- The Executive's Budget Proposal should be submitted to legislators at least two months before the start of the budget year.
- Legislative committees should examine the Executive's Budget Proposal and publish reports with their analysis online.
- The legislature should approve the Executive's Budget Proposal before the start of the budget year.

• In practice, ensure the legislature is consulted before the executive reduces spending due to revenue shortfalls.

The emerging practice of establishing independent fiscal institutions

United Kingdom's independent fiscal institution (IFI) is the Office for Budget Responsibility. Its independence is set in law, and it reports to the Executive and to Parliament. It publishes its own macroeconomic and fiscal forecasts, and its own cost estimates of all new policy proposals.

The indicators on IFIs are not scored in the Open Budget Survey.

Methodology

- Only documents published and events, activities, or developments that took place through 31 December 2020 were assessed in the OBS 2021.
- The survey is based on a questionnaire completed in each country by an independent budget expert:

 Eli Pimentel; Daniella Jenkins

 Women's Budget Group advisory group

 KL.G14, Edinburgh House, 170 Kennington Lane, London, SE11 5DP

 eli.pimentel@the-thread.org; daniela.jenkins@kcl.ac.uk
- To further strengthen the research, each country's draft questionnaire is also reviewed by an anonymous independent expert, and in United Kingdom by a representative of the Treasury.
